Change Request: Upside down frown

Tyrannical Requests' sales supervisor has realized that there are many sales people who waste time on the same sale order. So, in order to mitigate the issue, he wants to give them a gentle "nudge" to close sales in under a minute.

They have requested to change the way the smiley face works. Now, a timer should be kept and at first, we show the smiley face. If the timer goes higher than a minute, the smiley face should change to an angry face.